

2023 MOCCFOA Regional Training

Rex Osborn

Mind the Bridges

Millennials = Lazy. Entitled. Tech obsessed. Over eager.
Baby Boomers = Difficult to train. Stubborn. Set in their ways. Ever heard that before? Overcoming existing stereotypes and generational judgements is hard but working together when they exist is even tougher.

A successful office should be a melting pot of different generations, personalities and talent, all coming together toward a common goal. How do create an environment where all staff work in harmony and perform at a higher level making your municipality stronger from the inside out? Through pictures, stories and a humorous approach, Mind the Bridges will address the importance of communication in an environment where the generational gap feels more like canyon. This session will help you better understand how and why people use their own life experiences to make decisions and communicate with those around them.

Seat at the Table

As professionals most of us have said at one point or another: "Who came up with this idea, it won't work." But when you realize the mandate, you are just a day late, and it didn't work as predicted. The old saying is simple: Be at the table or be on the menu! So many decisions are made daily that directly conflict with your agencies mission, goals, or your personal core values. This session will help you first determine your personal core values, as this is the foundation in all we do in our profession and personal lives. This will help you decide if a process you are going to be involved in is worth the fight. We will discuss and do some sharing of those boards, commission, and events that you need to be present for, we will see if your vision is wide enough or do you need to narrow it down a bit. The takeaway will be, are you prepared to take a seat at the table and not be on the menu.

About Speaker:

Born and raised on a farm on the plains of Eastern South Dakota, Rex Osborn is a humorist and educator. Rex became a professional bouncer in some of the toughest bars in the Midwest. He served 31 years with two police agencies his entire career.

After being an adjutant professor for 14 years at a Junior College he continued to teach by lecturing around the world on a variety of topics. Rex is considered an expert in emergency management and leadership and shares that knowledge with the US Department of State in Saudi Arabia and other venues.

In the United States & Canada he frequently lectures on leadership and issues in our world today. Recently Rex just finished a three contract as the City Manager of a Boutique Community in the Wine Region of California and is currently the Process and Performance Director for a district of 37,000 residents.

Dr. Long earned her doctoral degree in Organizational Leadership from the University of LaVerne in Southern California, a master's degree in professional leadership from Carlow University in Pittsburgh, PA and a bachelor's degree in Business Administration from the University of Toledo in Toledo, OH.

Dr. Jane Long currently serves as the President of MetaLogic Consulting Group which she established in January of 2015.

In addition, she works full-time for the American Dental Association in Chicago, IL as their Manager of Learning, Staff Development, and Talent. She's also worked with IIMC since 2003 when she began developing and facilitating online courses and was the Director of Professional Development from 2015-2019.

Prior to her work with non-profit organizations, Dr. Long spent 18 years in higher education as both a faculty member and high-level administrator. In these roles, she presented over 100 interactive education sessions at national, state, and local conferences and taught online and on campus for several colleges and universities across the country.

Dr. Long is inspired by lifelong learners and believes her purpose in educating others is to truly make a difference in their lives and careers.

From the Author: I've been keeping diaries of clues to life. Notes about successes and failures, joys and sorrows. How to hurt people less. How to get hurt less. How to be a good man. How to have meaning in life. How to be more me.

Recently, I worked up the courage to sit down with those diaries. I found stories I experienced, lessons I learned and forgot, poems, prayers, prescriptions, beliefs about what matters. I found a reliable theme: If you know how, and when, to deal with life's challenges - how to get relative with the inevitable - you can enjoy a state of success I call "catching greenlights."

It's also a guide to catching more greenlights - and to realizing that the yellows and reds eventually turn green too.

All Athenian Dialogues are IIMC pre-approved. They are eligible for 3 CMC/MMC Education Points with completion of the required assessment. All dialogue participants must have camera and audio capabilities on in order to participate in the dialogue.
